Daily Quote...

"Is it any wonder so many Americans today see economic opportunities dissolving, with jobs, wages, and benefits getting squeezed and squeezed again? Millions of middle-class Americans are living from paycheck to paycheck, struggling to pay their bills, having to borrow money and go into debt. Many families are just one layoff or one medical emergency away from going into bankruptcy. A silent tidal wave of bankruptcies is now cresting across America's middle class. More people this year will end up bankrupt than will suffer a heart attack or be diagnosed with cancer or graduate from college or file for divorce."

- Mort Zuckerman, editor of U.S. News & World Report, in his column this week
